Strengthen Preventive Controls and Reduce Risk of Recalls

Food recalls can cost millions of dollars or more and can devastate a company's reputation. Consumers, retailers and regulators are now demanding transparency and accountability for the entire supply chain. The newly enacted Food Safety Modernization Act (FSMA) holds importers responsible for the safety and integrity of foreign-sourced ingredients. HorizonScan can help meet all these demands by identifying potential food safety threats on a global basis before they become a problem.
